DEMPSEY READY TO DEFEND TITLE AGAIN

Carpentier Admits Jack Is Greatest Fighter—Uncle Sam's Tax Gets The Coin

New York, July 4—Tex Rickard figures that his net profit from the Dempsey-Carpentier fight Saturday would be in the neighborhood of $550,000.

Rickard said he did not expect a final and accurate statement before Wednesday, but that expenses of all kinds would approximate $950,000, and taxes on his share $100,000, while the gross gate receipts were expected to exceed $1,600,000.

It was also figured out that Dempsey earned in the neighborhood of $29,000 per minute for his ten minutes and 16 seconds of actual fighting. Carpentier's profit as the loser in the contest will approximate $19,500 per minute.

The United States government will receive, in one form of taxation or another, a considerable portion of the $300,000 paid Dempsey and the $200,000 which was Carpentier's share of the purse. The total government proceeds from the bout will total more than $400,000, revenue officials estimated. The income tax will take about $160,000 of the $300,000 earned by Dempsey and about $77,000 of Carpentier's share. The federal revenue from the sale of tickets will amount to about $160,000.

Georges Carpentier must pay his entire tax to the United States before sailing for France. Dempsey must pay his tax in four installments next year, the first being due in March, 1922. Revenue officials pointed out that Carpentier also is likely to face another stringent income tax on arrival in France, shrinking still more the earnings of the defeated boxer.

Jack Dempsey is ready to fight Jess Willard any time the fight can be arranged, Jack Kearns, his manager, announced.

The champion is going west for a good vacation in a few days, after that, Kearns said, he will be ready to fight any one who presents himself with the proper credentials.

Georges Carpentier will not retire from the ring as a result of his defeat by Dempsey. He will fight any man in the world except the champion who, he added, is his superior. This statement was made today by Francois Desamps, the Frenchman's manager. "I'll admit, too," added Desamps, "that Jack Dempsey is the greatest heavyweight who ever lived. But I'll claim that my Georges comes next. Dempsey was too heavy and too powerful for Georges. He will not seek a return match. What we want now is a challenge for the world's light-heavyweight title, which Georges holds by virtue of his victory over Levinson."

How Jack Won The Fight

A crushing right swing from the first fighter shattered the titular aspirations of Georges Carpentier, in the fourth round of the so-called "battle of the century." The pile driving blow landed flush upon the jaw of the Frenchman, flooring Carpentier for the second time in a trifle more than a minute of fighting in the final and decisive round.

Altho he had staggered to his feet after the initial knockdown he was unable to survive the second knockdown and was motionless when referee Harry Erle tolled off the fatal ten counts.

Altho the knockout punch was driven to Carpentier's jaw, the way to Dempsey's victory had been paved by a continual bombardment of blows which landed on every section of the Frenchman's body. Each swing, jab and uppercut scored to the stomach, ribs and sides, contributed to the slowing up of the speedy Carpentier.

In addition, a clubbing right, which landed flush on the back of George's neck in the third round, played an important part in his defeat.

The Frenchman folded over in an attempt to protect his body, left the back of his neck exposed and Dempsey with the fair target in front of him, drove down a terrific slam to Carpentier's vertebrae. After the knockout Carpentier stated in his dressing room that this punch was the cause of his pugilistic downfall. He said the punch stung his entire physical and mental makeup and he was thereafter unable to carry on any effective attack.

ANOTHER PLEASING CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM

At Chautauqua Monday

Afternoon — Artists' Recital—Harry Yeazelle Mercer and Company.

Night—Artists' Night — Harry Yeazelle Mercer, tenor, Harold Ayres, violinist.

Katherine Ridgeway in Interpretative Recital.

The good folk of Richmond were entertained by the Chapel Singers at Chautauqua Saturday afternoon. A concert of the highest order was rendered to the delight of the audience. A large crowd was present, considering the high position of the mercenary. The members of the company are experienced church, concert, operatic singers. They sang a great deal of church music beautifully. A much larger crowd returned to the evening performance. Another concert was given by the Chapel Singers that pleased the audience as much as the afternoon concert.

This was followed by a very instructive lecture on "Personal Experiences with the Bolsheviks" by Lewis A. Convis. Mr. Convis told of the rule of the Bolsheviks, how it collected its army, its beginning, and what is to come of it. He also described fully the country of Siberia, and its possibilities. In telling about Siberia he told of having to chop wood to run a steam engine while there was so much coal in the country that it stuck out of the ground. He said that Siberia has greater natural resources than any other country in the world at present, and yet 90 per cent of it is undeveloped.

4-Year-Old Girl Is A

Very Frivolous Swimmer

Kankakee, Ill., July 4—Gretchen Shafer, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Shafer, has added new laurels to her crown. This time she is displaying her prowess in human fish. It is very doubtful if any other girl her age can do her stunts in diving, or swim. Some claim that she swims a distance of 50 feet but her father modestly puts it at 25 feet. She jumps off low diving platform. At two years Gretchen swimming and all-round aquatic gymnastics. Up to short time ago her father had her equipped with a set of water wings with which she floated about. She begged to discard them and her father reluctantly consented. To his amazement the child could take a ride in an airplane.

Dempsey Sees Fight In Pictures

(By Associated Press)
Jersey City, N. J., July 4—Jack Dempsey saw himself in action yesterday at a motion picture show. He watched every blow. He was keenly interested in the blow in the second round in which Carpentier staggered the champion. Dempsey saw himself totter and sway. Perhaps not until he saw the picture did he realize just how near he came to dropping, for after the fight Dempsey declared the blows did not bother him. The champion marveled at the gameness of the Frenchman.

BAILEY FREED BY LOUISVILLE JAILER

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, Ky., July 4—John H. Barr, jailer, who Saturday declined to release John Bailey, of Barbourville, held here on a murder charge, when papers that had not been certified were presented to him, released the prisoner Sunday after communicating with authorities at Mt. Vernon, Ky.

Bailey was transferred to Louisville from the Mt. Vernon jail for safekeeping after his alleged participation in the Bailey-White feud. T. J. Noe, a friend; W. J. Bailey, and J. C. Bailey, father and brother, respectively, of the prisoner, brought the papers to Louisville and gave bond for $10,000. The visitors said that when they decided to advance the bond friends and relatives of the incarcerated man pledged sums of $27,000 in excess of the amount fixed by the court. Immediately upon his release Bailey started for home.

Swarm of Bees Envelops Horse—Preacher's Life Saved By A Bystander

Mt. Olivet, Ky., July 4—At large peril to himself, Clayton Moore seized the bridle of a horse which was running away with a buggy occupied by Rev. W. B. Dunkhum, pastor of the Methodist church, and held on until he had been dragged for a block and the maddened animal had been swerved to the sidewalk and stopped. The Rev. Dunkhum had hired the rig and started to the country when a swarm of bees enveloped the horse, which was badly stung. The minister believes Moore saved his life.

Defendant Says Man He Slew Made Son Drunk

London, Ky., July 4—James Loving, who, it is alleged, killed M. N. Hinkle, was given an examining trial and held to the grand jury under $1,000 bail. He testified that Hinkle had made his (Loving's) son drunk and had taken him home. When Loving went to get the boy he said that Hinkle interfered and threatened him, provoking the shooting.

LEGION STARTS DRIVE FOR MEMBERS TODAY

The "every member get a member" campaign of the American Legion begins today. The campaign will close as soon as every member has enrolled a new member or as soon as the present membership is doubled.

The campaign will be carried out in accordance with the wish of E. W. Galbraith, Jr., the late national commander whose last message was a plea for increased membership. "The legion has earned the right," said Col. Galbraith, in his last message, "to do something in a national way primarily in the interests of its organization and the time has come to exercise that right. I propose that the American Legion shall exactly double its membership. A tremendous undertaking, you say. Yes, tremendously simple. Just an intensive effort when every legion member in the world shall go out, lay a firm, but friendly hand upon a buddy and sign him up. Every member get a member—and the job is done."

It is the hope of legionnaires everywhere that the campaign can be completed in a single day—July 4—as an honor to the memory of their late commander and an honor to the present commander, Mr. John G. Embury, whose 40th birthday falls on that date.

Navy Officers Severely Burned Near Frisco

(By Associated Press)
San Francisco, July 4—Commander Percy W. Foote, of the United States Ship Salem, and two sailors were severely burned at midnight last night when their motor boat burned in the bay here. They were rescued by a boat from the battleship Tennessee. The injured men were Seaman B. Cunningham and Machinist's Mate P. J. Lecklikner.

JERSEY FOLKS MEET PRESIDENT

(By Associated Press)
Raritan, New Jersey, July 4—Raritan people today paid their respects to President Harding. Several thousand gathered at the country home of Senator Frelinghuysen and shook hands with the President. Earlier in the day the country club where he has been playing golf, gave him a silver cup. The President refused to make a speech.

MRS. DAN WALLACE BUYS HOME HERE

Mrs. Dan Wallace bought the house on Broadway sold by the Freeman Realty Company for Nelson Gay, of Winchester, Saturday. The price paid was $4,080, which was somewhat under what Mr. Gay paid for it about a year ago, but this was expected due to the natural decline in property values the past few months. The house has been occupied by Mr. Wm. R. Bales and family. It is understood that Mrs. Wallace will make it her home. The sale was cried by Long Tom Chenault. Mrs. Wallace will move back here from Irvine where she has lived since the death of her husband there.

Women and Children Stumble Over Whisky

Mt. Vernon, Ky., July 4—Women and children picking blackberries on the J. W. Stokes farm, stumbled over four gallons of moonshine whisky hidden in the briars. Magistrate Dan Mullins was advised of the find and emptied the liquor on the ground. Ownership of the whisky has not been ascertained and Mr. Stokes knew nothing of its presence on his place.

Martin County Man Finds Bear In Woods Near Home

Warfield, Ky., July 4—James Adams, residing at McClure, Ky., encountered a bear in the woods near his home. He was unarmed and deliberating on which way to run when the bear, more frightened than he, bolted into the brush.

"DRUNKS" MUST ATTEND CHURCH

Novel Sentences Inflicted at Mining Camp Near Pineville, Said To Get Results

(By Associated Press)
Pineville, Ky., July 4—"Drink and disorderly!" Go to church morning and night and Sunday school every Sunday for five weeks.

Verdicts something like this rendered by the Superintendent of a coal company at Black Mountain, 5 miles from here up the Cumberland Valley, have cut trouble to a minimum, according to Rev. Ollie Reagan, Superintendent of the Southeastern district of the Kentucky conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. The church maintains a community house and community work in the Black Mountain camp.

This scheme of "punishment" for disorders at the camp was conceived and carried out by A. W. Miller, the superintendent of the company, according to the Rev. Mr. Reagan. There had been considerable drinking, and shooting and other trouble in the camp. After the superintendent became "sold" on the community program and decided that if he could sell the employees of the company it would have a tendency to maintain quiet.

So when a man got drunk and fired his pistol or created other trouble he was brought before the superintendent, evidence was heard and the decision of the superintendent rendered. In every instance the order was that the men should either get out of the camp at once or accept the alternative of going to Sunday school and morning and evening service for a given number of Sundays.

The number varies, according to Rev. Mr. Reagan, with the seriousness of the offense. "Penalized" men must report each Monday morning to the superintendent whether or not they went to church. If they did not go they must give a reason and the superintendent is the judge as to the validity of the reason.

The result, according to Rev. Mr. Reagan, has been that the camp is rapidly becoming one of the most orderly in the mountains, while the Sunday school has more than 200 regular attendants and morning and evening services are attended by from 200 to 300 persons.

FAST BALL GAME .THIS AFTERNOON

The big Fourth of July ball game is to be played on the Deatherage lot at 4 o'clock between the First Christians and the pick of the other teams in the Church league, this afternoon. The teams are said to be in top notch condition and rarin' to go. A dandy game is to be displayed before the fans.

A great many are in town for court lay and a record crowd is expected to attend the big contest. The proceeds go to the local Red Cross.

It has not been decided which of the Campbellite star boxmen will be used. Both Neff and Douglas are going at a great pace. Isaac is to be on the mound for the picked team.

The First Christian line up will be Lilly, Doty or Jennings catcher, Douglas or Neff pitcher, Martin first, Oldham second, Barnett short stop, Lackey third, Deatherage right field, Millard center field, and Turley left field.

The picked team has not been lined up, but the following men are to be out in uniform: Isaac, A. Turpin, C. Rogers, Saunders, Yader, Hembree, W. Burnam, Gentry, Vanhaus, Keith, J. Parks, J. W. McKinney, B. McKinney, Chase and Juett.

Peace has now been signed with Germany by Congress and now let's hope conditions will improve in the business world. We were assured of better conditions when we returned to normalcy after Harding was elected, but we've had almost six months of normalcy and who can say that conditions are much better? Are the working folks pleased with the change? Are the farmers pleased? Just who is pleased with this normalcy, anyway?

JACKSON LIKES PETTICOAT RULE

After Year's Trial of Government by Women, Wyoming Town Is Satisfied.

IS NOW QUIET AND ORDERLY

Place Once Rendezvous for Desperadoes Transformed by the Women—Now Kept Clean Morally and Physically—Many Reforms

Jackson, Wyo.—Jackson, after a year's trial of petticoat government, has found it good. Half a century ago the first jury of women to be impaneled in the United States was drawn in Wyoming and 20 years later Wyoming insisted, and won its point, that it be admitted to the Union without one single change in its constitutional provision giving women equal suffrage rights with men. Since then the feminist movement has developed astounding. And so, when the votes were counted at Jackson at the recent election, they showed the following results:

For mayor: Mrs. Grace Miller, 57; L. W. Spicer, 21. For councilmen: Mrs. Genevieve Van Vleet, 67; G. H. Blaine, 19; Mrs. Faustina Haight, 66; Almer Nelson, 18.

Turn the Men Out.
Just a year ago the picturesque little western town, with a population of 526, by the latest census, nestling beneath the beetling peaks of the giant Teton in the heart of the famed Jackson's Hole country, startled the nation by turning out its man-made administration and installing a town government made up entirely of women. The victory was all the more notable because of the fact that Mrs. Rose Crabtree had been elected to the town council over her own husband. Evidently the women of Jackson had decided to spoil the town's glamorous reputation as the rendezvous for bad, bold, two-gun desperadoes.

The exact issue in the campaign a year ago was a matter for argument, but whatever it was the women won decisively. This year it was the same thing over, a three-to-one landslide. During the year's tenure, the five women of the town's administration managed to keep Jackson clean, morally and physically, and in addition they brought about a number of municipal improvements. They transformed what used to be country lanes into city streets; they acquired a site for a cemetery to take the place of the old, familiar burying ground; and they are now working on a plan for a modern, adequate water system to replace the present system of irrigating ditches fed by near-by Cache creek.

Stand Pat on Records.
Two of the councilwomen are hold overs this year. The other two, along with the mayor, stood pat on their records. The mayor, Mrs. Miller, is the wife of a wealthy retired stock man and rancher, who is supervisor of the Teton national forest reserve. Of the councilwomen, Mrs. Crabtree runs a hotel. Her husband is a building contractor. Mrs. Van Vleet is the wife of a hardware merchant. Mrs. Haight is a school teacher and a homemaker, and Mrs. W. C. De Loney's husband is a member of the Wyoming state legislature.

A few days after the election, Miss Pearl Williams, the town's twenty-two-year-old marshal, announced that she would not seek reappointment of the new administration. When asked why not, she replied: "I've had plenty. Besides, Jackson has become so quiet and orderly that the town doesn't need a marshal any more."

MAY PERFECT GAS WARFARE

British Expert Declares Chemicals Less Cruel Than Other Weapons of War.

London.—Sir William J. Pope, professor of chemistry at Cambridge university and president of the Society of Chemical Industry, asserts in The Chemical Age that chemical warfare has come to stay, and pleads for an open recognition by the government of poison gas research.

He says that in the war poison was less fatal and far less cruel than any other weapon; and points out that it would be simple to devise high explosive shells which would liberate large quantities of carbon monoxide, against which all known protective measures are useless.

"No reason," he says, "exists why a chemical should not be made which does not kill, but produces local anesthesia, causes violent sneezing for a few hours, or leads to some form of physiological intoxication which may prove of great military value."

Lightning Defeats Horses

Columbia City, Ind.—Four horses in a barn at the farm of Frank Jones, five miles southwest of this city, were made deaf by a stroke of lightning the other day. A bolt struck the west side of the barn during a storm and ripped off the entire west side and part of the roof.

Seven hens were sitting on eggs. The eggs under five of the hens were broken to bits, but the hens were not hurt. Mr. Jones and his son left the building a few moments before it was struck. The barn did not take fire.

MILLER OBLIGED TO QUIT BUSINESS

Louisville Man Finally Gave Up After Suffering For Eight Years.

"My ill health forced me out of business, but since taking Tanlac I feel so fine I think I will get back in business again," said Robt. Miller, 419 West Market street, Louisville, Ky., who was in a hardware business in Detroit, Mich., ten years.

"Stomach trouble and rheumatism got the best of me and for eight years I lived in misery. My legs and back hurt me so bad I could hardly walk and it was just agony for me to stoop over and straighten up again. I held on to my business as long I could but finally I got to a point where I had to give up.

"When I began taking Tanlac I was living on liquid food altogether and was getting weaker and thinner every day. This medicine has just made a new man out of me. I eat anything I want and digest it perfectly and don't have a twinge or rheumatism from one day's end to the other. I sleep like a top all night and get up in the morning feeling just fine. My only regret is that I didn't get Tanlac sooner, for I would have been saved a world of suffering and expense. I recommend it without reservation to people who have stomach trouble and rheumatism."

"The Outside Woman" is one of those clever domestic farces in which a frivolous wife is taught a sound lesson through a series of complications which threaten at one time to wreck her reputation and happiness on the reef of misunderstanding.

The story concerns a young married couple, the feminine half of which is inculcated with the virus of "swap." Her exchanging of a seemingly valueless idol for a pair of Armenian shawls causes unexpected complications when said idol proves worth many thousands of dollars. A painter with penchant for figures in the nude, his jealous Spanish wife and a pair of nosy servants, all add to the rapid fire humor of the production.

Wanda Hawley, is, as usual, captivating. The story gives her ample opportunity for the dimpled, eye-twinkling insouciance which has made her such a favorite. Clyde Fillmore is big, handsome and altogether convincing as her doctor husband.

Good comedy is also furnished by the presence of Misao Saki and Thena Jasper, respectively Japanese and colored valet and maid; both are well known to film patrons and are said to be leaders of their races in the field of light comedy.

Weber Wagon Value

At half price would you purchase any automobile in 60-inch track?

At half price could you sell to a farmer any automobile in 60-inch track?

Why mislead a farmer into buying a farm wagon that won't track with the automobile?

What better path could a wagon use than the one made as shown above?

When you purchase a Weber Farm Wagon you get more than just a farm wagon. That fact alone is worth looking into.

Some wagons are sold more for the purpose of making a sale and as large a profit as possible than for giving service.

Some dealers are antagonistic to the Standard Track (the one track for every section of the United States) for farm wagons; the 56-inch auto track (not wide or narrow) because they have not got the agency for the Weber.

Some dealers will talk a farmer into buying a 60-inch old-track farm wagon, but when such a dealer goes into the country on business or pleasure does he use a 60-inch track farm wagon, leaving his automobile at home because the 56-inch track is wrong? NO, he uses 56-inch track to go anywhere and everywhere.

Ask the dealers selling automobiles if they have any trouble selling 56-inch track—if they could sell automobiles in 60-inch track even at half price. The answer will be NO.

What track should your new farm wagon be? The Standard 56-inch track, which is neither wide nor narrow.

CORN VARIETY TESTS ON IN 27 COUNTIES

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., July 4.—In order to demonstrate the highest yielding varieties of corn for given sections of the state, 113 farmers in 27 Kentucky counties are conducting corn variety tests in co-operation with their farm bureaus, county agents and the extension division of the College of Agriculture, according to an announcement made today by Ralph Kenney, crops extension specialist from the college.

Varieties which are being used in the test include Boone county white, Hickory King, Iowa Silver mine, Reid's Yellow Dent, and Pride of Salina, the latter being a Kansas variety. Seed for the tests was furnished by the college to each of the farmers who also will grow three or four of its more popular local varieties in each of the tests. Seed is being planted in both the bottom and upland soils of each of the 27 counties.

According to Mr. Kenney, the work will be continued for several years until it has been demonstrated beyond reasonable doubt what two or three varieties of corn are most reliable and highest yielding in each section of the state.

HIGH SCHOOLS ARE DELUGED WITH PUPILS

(By Associated Press)

Des Moines, Iowa, July 4.—High schools everywhere are deluged with students, for the effort to increase enrollment has exceeded the fondest expectations, John A. Sexton, principal of the Logan county high school at Sterling, Colo., told the National Educational Association here today.

"Existing buildings are overcrowded, competent teachers are almost priceless, equipment is inadequate in amount and obsolete in character in the face of the demands of the new curriculum," Mr. Sexton said.

"Communities heretofore indifferent to high school advantages are joining in a Tam O'Shanter race to provide high school advantages for all the children.

"The challenge of America's youth today is, 'Provide the high schools and we are ready to go!'"

COLVIN PRAISES SUMMER SCHOOLS

Claims Kentucky Has Saved
$100,000 Other States Have To Spend For Results

(By Associated Press)

Frankfort, Ky., July 2.—Through the operation of summer schools for teachers caring for 85 of the 120 counties, without the state being called upon to spend money, Kentucky this year has accomplished a feat that in other states has called for an expenditure of from $75,000 to $150,000, according to State Superintendent of Public Instruction George Colvin. A total of 7,342 white teachers out of a total of 11,000, were enrolled in the schools last week, he said.

There are also 700 out of the 1,000 negro teachers in the state attending the schools for their race, he said.

"The success of the plan is based entirely on the loyalty, devotion, and patriotism of the teachers and county school boards, of the state, said Dr. Colvin, in speaking of the schools. 'The teachers of Kentucky are behind the teachers of other states' preparation but it is because they have not had the chance to prepare. That they are willing to prepare themselves properly when they get the chance, is shown by the fact that the first time they get the chance 7,000 volunteers, at their own expense, to attend summer schools. In other states where summer schools have been held, the attendance is compulsory and the state must spend from $75,000 to $150,000. But the state of Kentucky has not had to spend a cent. The success is due entirely to the teachers and the county school boards."

The way the idea has spread the grip it is getting on the teachers of the state is illustrated, according to Dr. Colvin, by the fact that Kenton and Campbell counties did not plan to hold schools. The authorities of those two counties reported last week, however, that the demand for the schools was so great that they had decided to start instruction for teachers at once.

The schools last five weeks and in most instances instructors offered their services for "whatever you can pay," Dr. Colvin said, and some men whose services are worth during the summer $50 a week or more are serving for $20 a week. Every private school and college in the state offered the services of their staffs and plants for the for the instruction of teachers, he said.

Illustrating his claims that the schools have taken a strong hold in the state, Dr. Colvin told of the case of Mrs. J. W. Cammack, wife of Judge J. W. Cammack, of Owenton, who is attending the summer school for Owen county. Mrs. Cammack has raised a family of five children and all have graduated from universities. Her own family grown up she is attending summer school with the probable view to teaching school next winter.

SWIFT PRODUCE REVIEW

A lighter supply coupled with a better demand for butter has resulted in higher markets and better prices for butterfat. Quite a little of the butter reaching the market last week is selling under top prices on account of defects in quality. Better care in marketing the cream in the country is necessary to remedy these defects.

The egg supply has been smaller, with higher prices ruling in the producing and consuming centers.

Poultry values are lower, due to increased receipts. Storage stocks are much heavier than a

FORTUNE IN SHARKS

Extended Use Found for "Tigers of the Sea."

New Industry on the Pacific Coast Promises Big Profits for Its Promoters.

Victoria.—With the supply of raw material unlimited, an industry new to this country is flourishing at Parker Island, between Galiano and Mayne Island, on the Gulf of Georgia. It is the business of catching sharks, and a week's catch at the beginning of May ran to 80, with an average weight of more than a ton each. Nelson MacDonald of this city, who operated the first shark-catching machinery on the island, declares there will never be a shortage, as there are millions in the waters surrounding the island.

"In fact, the farther north you go the more sharks you will find, and from here to Alaska are their feeding grounds," Mr. MacDonald said. "Taking them from the bottom of the sea is automatic. Norway has hundreds of such industries. The only real hook for catching them, which works on a swivel, comes from there, and the so-called cod liver oil, which invades the markets of the world, is really shark liver oil, manufactured in Norway."

Nothing is wasted in a shark plant. There is no finer fish meat than that made from the bodies of sharks. As a fertilizer it is superior to dogfish. The head of the shark is full of glue of a highly valuable quality, and the fins are a much prized Chinese food delicacy, orientals here paying as much as $30 a pound for it.

The liver content runs from 60 to 70 per cent of finest oil, of which about 10 per cent is glycerin. Shark's teeth are in demand in many parts of the world, and fetch a high price for the manufacture of ornaments. What bones there are, and they are few, go into the fertilizer part of the industry.

The greatest interest in this new industry is being manifested by the manufacture of hides. Several American companies have been formed, and much research work is being done at present. The shark hides run from an inch in thickness to the consistency of paper in the baby shark. In Seattle they are manufacturing hip-boots from shark hides and they are declared to be completely waterproof.

Famous Ben Greet Players in Shakespeare's "As You Like It," at Chautauqua

The presentation of Shakespeare's great comedy, "As You Like It," by the Ben Greet players on the fourth night of the coming Reopath Chautauqua, will be both in entertainment and intellectual treat. Ben Greet's wonderful genius in taking from Shakespeare's plays the "high-brow" atmosphere with which they have been associated and interpreting them so that they appeal directly to and are understood by all who witness them is clearly shown in the splendid production which will be given here. Miss Grace Lindsey Mills of New York City will appear as Rosalind. She is thoroughly experienced and rarely gifted in Shakespearean portrayals.

Survey by Government Bureau Shows California Sets Marks for United States.

Washington.—The highest and lowest points in the United States are in California, within ninety miles of each other, says a bulletin issued by the geological survey. Mount Whitney, the highest point, is 14,501 feet above sea level and in Death valley there is a depression that lies 276 feet below sea level.

The difference in height of these two points is small, however, the survey states, as compared with the difference in the height and depth of land in Asia. Mount Everest rises 29,002 feet above sea level, whereas the shores of the Dead sea lie 1,200 feet below.

Information in the hands of the survey shows that the greatest depth yet found in any ocean is 35,838 feet, a depth at a point about 40 miles north of the island of Mindanao in the Philippines. This would make the bottom of the sea at that point more than 11½ miles below the summit of Mount Everest.

'LIGHT', 2000 RUBLES

Demand for Courtesy Shocks Visitor in Petrograd.

Shows How Different Life Is in Russia From What It Is Anywhere Else—Pitiful Scenes in Streets.

Paris.—The scene of this incident is the Piskl Petrograd, near the statue of Peter the Great. The time is the 10th of July, in the morning, and the actors are a young French journalist and one of Lenin's communists who are to regenerate the world by the abolition of private property.

The Frenchman is just arrived after many difficulties. He is anxious for a cigarette and finds that he has no matches. Then comes a tall, thin Bolshevik supporting wall while he smokes. The Frenchman politely approaches, raises his hand and asks for a light. The Bolshevik, with the utmost economy of effort, extends a lighted cigarette. The Frenchman is profuse in thanks.

"That will be 2,000 roubles," remarks the Bolshevik.

"After all, it was only forty centimes," says the journalist, Maxim Baze, in his dispatch to Leclercq, "but for the moment my bag was taken away by the demand for the amount of it. Two thousand roubles for the courtesy of handing a lit. By that one can see as well as any way how different life is in Russia from what it is anywhere else."

M. Baze tells the now familiar story of deserted, silent street and of people emaciated and cowed with sores who nervously shrink from the streets. Most pitiful of all, he says, to see women who have given from former days some piece of clothing—a lace scarf of the Paris fashion of 1914, or a dress from which the collar has long since faded. They cling to these things as the last link with the days that were.

The only real manufacturer that is doing by the townspeople seem to be that of agricultural tools, which they take and privately barter for the peasants for small doses of sugar or vegetables.

No one, says M. Baze, knows how anyone else manages to continue living, as many factories which were at work last year and supplied the employees with food are now closed, even the co-operatives are closing, for they have no more to sell, and it is this fact more than anything else which has inclined Lenin to the re-establishment of private commerce.

GOLD MINE LURE FOR 300 YEARS

Fabulous Treasure Said to Be Hidden in Sierra Madre Mountains in Mexico.

DYING PRIEST TELLS SECRET

Mexico City Contains Records of the Old Mine and Prospectors Have Reported Seeing the Ruins, but None Reached Them.

Bisbee, Ariz.—For 300 years, according to reliable records, the Sierra Madre mountains of Sonora and Chihuahua, Mexico, have held the secret of a gold mine of fabulous richness and a vast treasure store of gold, mined and hidden away in an inaccessible tunnel.

The romance of the gold hunter is written in the history of man's efforts through the centuries to reach and bring back to civilization this wealth of the Old Tyopa mines. Murders and violence have marked many of these efforts, and still in many hardy breasts of this mining country to-day there still stirs the spirit which has prompted many to brave the dangers of starvation, thirst and death at the hands of Indian bands and outlaws in the search for gold.

Records at Capital. Mexico City contains records of the old mine and several prospectors, one of them, Jack Dunn, accredited discoverer of the Warren district, have reported seeing the ruins of the old mine, but none ever reached there.

According to records at the Mexican capital, in the latter part of the Seventeenth century the isolated village of Old Tyopa was raided by Indians, who destroyed the town and killed all the inhabitants except a priest.

After wandering for several weeks the priest arrived at a little town called Agua Fria, on the Papig river, where he was received and cared for by a Mexican family. His hardships caused his death, but before he died he gave the family a description and map of the mining camp. He also reported that the gold obtained from several years of mining had been stored in an old tunnel, because of the impossibility of shipment to civilization.

The story and map, it is said, have been handed down from family to family for generations. Those who attempted to reach the camp lost their outlaws, and many did not return. The Indians for years menaced all prospectors and this condition still exists, augmented by bands of outlaws.

Max Covita, for several years Mexican consul at Naco, is said to have been the latest possessor of the priest's map.

Has Twice Seen Ruins.

He declared he twice succeeded in getting as far as Casa Blanca, from which the ruins of Old Tyopa are visible, and it was reported he had not given up hopes of reaching the place his death several years ago.

Bert Grover, a local man, twice started with two companions to make the perilous journey, but was forced back because of insufficient equipment, Indians and outlaws.

Some remarkable gold specimens have been brought back from the vicinity of the Old Tyopa, but so far known no one ever reached the mine since the old town was destroyed centuries ago.

Dog Gets Hawk in Air.

Danville, Ind.—A hawk which for months preyed on the poultry yards of Liberty township, made a mistake when it attempted to settle on a flock guarded by Sherman—Lookinbill's Airdale dog. When the hawk swooped down on the flock, the dog rushed forward, springing into the air and seized the bird by one foot. Although the dog's head and ears were badly cut by the hawk's talons, the Airdale held on and killed the bird.

Berkeley, Cal.—Sixteen hens in the United States, all of them white, have laid over 300 eggs in a year, thus entering the select class in the egg-laying league, according to H. M. Butterfield, poultry statistician of the college of agriculture.

Oregon has three top-notchers, one laying 330 eggs in 365 days, and two others showing 323 eggs, he says. Across the continent at Storrs, Conn., a White Wyandotte laid 308 eggs, while a White Plymouth Rock and a White Leghorn were good for over 300 eggs at Vineland, N. J.

Rotation in office is both Democratic and best for the people. Trusting that I shall not be considered presumptuous in tending my services to fill this high office "so ably filled by my opponent" for the past 30 years, at which rate only three of Kentucky's sons could perform the duties of this position of honor and opportunity in a century.

RICH IN RESOURCES

Colombia Has Much Natural Wealth, but Is Undeveloped

Lack of Transportation Facilities One of Its Biggest Drawbacks—Capital Is Hard to Reach.

Washington, D. C.—Colombia, the country to which the United States has just engaged by treaty to pay $25,000,000, and the scene of some of the principal exploits of Simon Bolivar, liberator of the northern states of South America, whose statue was recently unveiled in New York City, is the subject of the following bulletin issued from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society:

"Colombia, which occupies the north-eastern corner of South America and forms the southern 'abutment' of the Isthmus of Panama, is typical of the entire northern and northeastern portion of the South American continent," says the bulletin. "It is tremendously rich in all sorts of natural resources and almost wholly undeveloped."

"It has an area of nearly half a million square miles, which means that it is almost twice the size of Texas; yet it has less than one-twentieth of the railroad mileage of that state."

"Bogota, the capital of Colombia, is situated between ranges of the Andes on a plateau at an elevation of more than a mile and a half. It is approximately 450 miles from the Caribbean sea along the most accessible route and 200 miles from the Pacific across the Andes. It has no rail connection with either sea. To reach it one must travel for more than 500 miles up the winding course of the Magdalena river by boat, skirting rapids by means of a short length of railroad, and finally cover the last 50 miles from the head of navigation by rail. The trip sometimes requires several weeks."

"More than half of the area of Colombia lies east of the three ranges of the Andes and consists of plains country sloping toward the center of the continent and drained by the headwaters of the great Amazon and Orinoco river systems. Covered with succulent grasses, these plains form an unsurpassed stock-raising country. It is largely uncultivated and is to be compared with the plains of Rhodesia, South Africa, as one of the richest unoccupied regions suitable for cattle raising remaining in the world. It is estimated that more than ten million head of cattle could be pastured on these 'llanos' of eastern Colombia."

"Colombia's climate conditions vary from the sub-tropical near the shores of the Caribbean to Alpine in the higher Andes. Forests cover millions of acres, the deltas and river valleys yield cotton, tobacco, cacao, bananas, rubber and other tropical and sub-tropical products, while on the hill-sides coffee thrives. On the plateaus grain and other temperate zone products may be grown."

PURSUES WOLF WITH AUTO

South Dakota Man Lands Nine Cubs for Which He Receives Bounty of $3 Each.

Aberdeen, S. D.—George Berg delivered at the office of the Brown county auditor the other day the hides of nine baby wolves, upon which he will receive county bounty in the sum of $1 per scalp and $2 per scalp in state bounties.

Berg lives near Vorton and a few days ago he discovered an old sheep-wolf in his chicken yard. The animal started away at his approach and Berg got into his automobile and followed her.

Across the prairie the wolf took her course with the car in pursuit. The animal finally arrived at her den and disappeared. Berg reached the spot a few minutes later and with a spade excavated to the home of the wolf, where he found her nine babies. He drove the old wolf out and captured the cubs, whose hides he has sold to the county.

Umbrella Blown to Him.

Fulton, Mo.—Starting home about one o'clock one morning, the fact that the rain was beating down in a strong wind made John Emerson wish for an umbrella, raincoat and everything. No sooner wished than an umbrella blew right into his hands. It is an ill wind that blows no good, so after looking around for the owner and failing to find him, John walked on home under the aforesaid umbrella. But he is in a quandary. He would like to know just for curiosity's sake to whom the umbrella belongs and where it came from.

Cat Adopted Valuable Black Foxes Left Orphans

A house cat has saved $2,500 for L. W. Archibald, superintendent of the Warren Black Fox ranch, of Warren, Pa., by adopting five orphaned foxes. The mother fox died soon after giving birth to the five cubs, and the cubs, worth $500 each, seemed doomed. But the Archibald cat had just become a mother, so the superintendent removed the kittens and substituted the foxes. The mother cat took kindly to the arrangement and has adopted the cubs as her own.

spent from Sunday to Tuesday with her niece, Mrs. Hattie McSpadden, of Lexington and family.

CRACK COLORED NINE WINS AGAIN

(By Joseph Fields)

Richmond's crack colored team, the Browns, continued their winning streak at Greenlawn Park Sunday, defeating the star Lancaster Eagles by a score of 2 to 0. Lancaster held the local boys for five innings without a hit but their sorrow they waked Glover and then Dunson smashed out a triple and one run was over. An error and a wild pitch gave Richmond her other score. Both of the pitchers twirled a fine brand of ball and a big crowd was present to see the game. THESE "BOYS" PLAY BALL IN BEARDS

(By Associated Press)

Benton Harbor, Mich., July 4.—The House of David base ball team has opened its second season of play and recently returned from its first tour of several Illinois towns.

The team is one of the oddities of the national pastime. The local colony is a religious sect. The members wear their hair long and never shave. They are vegetarians. The declare themselves the forerunners of the twelve tribes of Israel, which, they say, will eventually number 144,000.

About two years ago the colony began playing baseball. The first year they contented themselves with playing semi-pro teams at home, playing at Eden Spring, a park just outside of Benton Harbor. Last year the team took to barnstorming, touring eastern towns, where they were considerable of a hit. They played good ball and their long hair and flowing beards proved an added attraction that the fans had not expected.

"Brother" Mooney last year attracted the attention of the Chicago National League club, and it is said that an offer was made him. However as the tenets of the faith would not permit him to leave the colony, he remained to pitch for the locals. "Brother" Tally has worked up something of a reputation in hitting. Eastern sport scribes referred to him as the "Bearded Babe Ruth."

The teams plans another tour of the east. The players use bats that have been turned by themselves on their lathes in the colony workshop.
